Fifteen Kids Upstairs

If there's anyone who needs our deepest sympathy and prayers, it's the folks who live in flats where there are, fifteen kids upstairs; well we know the things they suffer and we know just how it feels to be forced to listen constantly to shouts and howls and squeals; we know the noises off by heart—the hanging of the doors, the jumping and the thumping on the overburdened floors. We realize how prone they feel to threaten something rash, when the plaster from the ceiling falls upon them with a crash. Oh yes, there is a personage who needs our ardest prayers, he's the man who occupies a flat with fifteen kids upstairs.
